W&L DAYS

Where will you be in ten years? What will you be doing in five years? By now, you have probably reached the inevitable conclusion that you do not know where you will be or what will be occupying your time at any point in the future. Our futures are not exactly secure.

No need to worry. You are human and, unless you possess some cryptic power that enables you to predict your future, there is no sure way to determine your fate, no way to control your destiny. However, you can affect some aspects of your future in a positive way — by taking action today.

If you want to maintain a close relationship with your high school friends after graduation, let them know how much you appreciate their friendship now. When you let your friends know how much you value them, the bond that you share is likely to strengthen and stand the test of time.

You must also make a conscious effort to remember the important things that have happened during your high school years. From these experiences you can gain the insight and wisdom useful for making decisions later on in life.

With this in mind, the yearbook staff proudly presents The Generals 1990. It is our sincere wish that every word, every photograph, every image will keep alive memories of Washington and Lee for years to come. Our destination is unknown but, with our friendships and our memories to spur us on, we can step into the future with a little more courage.

W&L ELITE

IN MEMORIAM

There are many people who do wonderful things to support our school. Often, these people never receive the recognition or gratitude which is due them. One such person was Buddy Hurt. A long-time resident of Westmoreland County, he gave much of his time and talents to the young people of this area. For this we are grateful. Each time the lights illuminate the football and baseball fields, we are reminded of the generous support of Buddy Hurt and others of the community. It is giving of this nature that provides the students of Washington and Lee an opportunity to succeed.

A quiet hush settles over the crowd as it waits. The player steps up to the foul line. A loud thump, thump, thump is the only sound heard. The player now balances the ball in her hand. She eyes the target. She releases the ball at a perfect arch. The ball seems to be suspended in mid-air as it sails ever so slowly towards the goal. A resounding SWISH vibrates through the gym causing the crowd to react with ecstatic joy.

This was the second time in one night that the crowd had reason to celebrate. Just a few moments earlier Melissa "Jean" Yeatman did what few players of her caliber had ever done. She had gone over the edge. Melissa scored her 1000th point.

The ladies made an outstanding showing overall. Their final record was 14-3. This excellent standing was a sign of the superior degree of teamwork they managed to establish. You must be thinking this is a lot of hype. Well you're right because when your team, robbed of first place, is second in the district, you've got a right to a lot of hype. Will the girls be able to recapture first place?

This year, the J.V. Girls Basketball team proved to be better than last year by capturing the J.V. District Champion title under the guidance of coach Sheila Hines.

With most of last years players returning and only two advancing to varsity, the 89-90 J.V. team had several experienced players. Newcomers proved to be essential throughout the season.

The team got off to a slow start, but as the season progressed it became more aggressive. The Lady Eagles' strong defense often lead them to victory. Everyone on the team contributed in some significant way.

The Lady Eagles ended the season with a record of 10-6 overall and 8-1 in the district.

Next year the team will lose six players to Varsity. Can they defend their title as champs?

Once again, the J.V. Eagles attained a perfect season with a record of eight wins and zero losses. Their outstanding season was a result of excellent coaching and great teamwork.

Because the players made a concentrated effort, the team's score was high in every game. The offense, with its powerful backfield and excellent receivers, neared perfection.

The J.V. also had a strong defense, allowing a total of only twenty-four points scored against the Eagles all season. No opponent scored more than six points in a game. Because of the Eagles' strong line and great pass coverage, no team could get by them.

The J.V. Eagles are on a roll with two consecutive undefeated seasons. How long will this great record last?

The Varsity Football Squad spent the season rebuilding after the loss of last year's seniors. The coaches worked hard to organize the players, who made a diligent effort to play their roles properly.

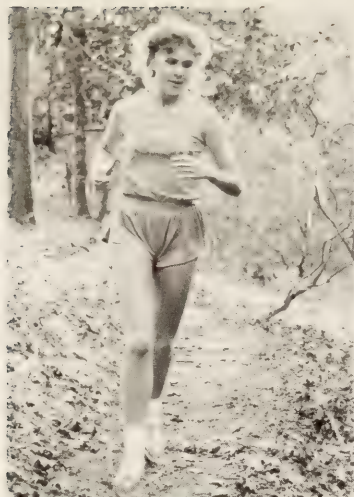

There were many newcomers to the team. Bert Willis was the leading rusher for the Eagles. Cory Jackson was the second leading rusher and also made an excellent showing overall.

Several of the veteran sportsmen can boast of their individual accomplishments. Daniel Riley led the region in passing yardage(1430 yds.), while James Crawley led the region in reception yardage(768 yds.).

Coach Sterner said that the team's 4-6 record did not reflect the ability and the potential of the athletes. With more hard work, he hopes to improve the team's record. Will this year's hard work pay off when next season rolls around?

Although weak in number, the cross country runners were strong in dedication. The beginning of the season brought only two runners to early morning practices. Jim Tilley and Caroline Anderson were W & L's solo participants in the first meet. As the season progressed, the team picked up additional runners, Bill Hinson and Jason Zirkle.

During the season, there seemed to be little flat ground, especially on the home course. However, the team members' spirits were never dampened, even when they had to race in the rain.

Everyone running for the Eagles made a good showing at the district meet which was hosted by Washington & Lee. Then they ran in the regional meet at King William, and the lucky few who traveled to State had the privilege of running up the dreaded "Cardiac Hill" at the University of Virginia.

The seniors were not the only ones leaving at the end of the season. Coach Gill Williams will be departing to assume the job of guidance counselor at Cople Elementary School. Coach William's absence will be felt by the team as a whole, as well as by the individual runners. He will be missed both as a coach and as a dear friend.

The 1990 cross country coach-to-be, Scott Johnson, will have a great responsibility in filling the shoes of Coach Williams. Fortunately, Coach Johnson has gained valuable experience during the season. We all wish him luck. Coach's biggest question is: Will W & L have a cross country team next year?

In only the second year of coaching the Volleyball Team, Coach Seed led the girls to a regular season championship, a District Tournament Championship, and finally to the Regional Tournament.

The Volleyball Team closed the season with a 14-4 record. The most disappointing loss was the Regional Championship. Washington and Lee lost the first match 13-15, but then rallied to win the second match 15-9. This was followed by a hard-fought loss to Northumberland, 16-14.

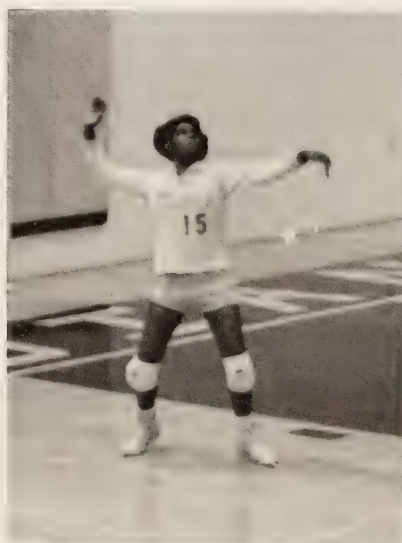

The nucleus for this year's team was composed of six letter earners from last year headed by senior and team captain, Melissa Yeatman. "We will miss our seniors next year," added Coach Seed, "but, we will have four potential 'all everything' players returning who, I believe, will lead Washington and Lee to its best year yet."

Will next year's strong team advance to the state level?

Hip

After a disappointing start, the Boys Basketball Team proved that they had the agility and stamina to be number one in the Northern Neck District. Playing against AA schools with taller and bigger athletes the team had a less than perfect 0-8 record at the beginning of the season. However, when the district play commenced, the guys really strutted their stuff.

Although the team was young this year, it matured until there was enough skill and experience to make the team the best in the district for the second consecutive year. In tournament play, the Eagles outscored Rappahannock and then went on to beat Lancaster in the finals, 59-58.

This win sent the team to Regional play. In the first game, Washington and Lee totally destroyed Arcadia. Unfortunately, they could not edge out Sussex Central.

Does next season promise to be as exciting for The Eagles?

LITTLE DRIBBLERS

Continual improvement was a characteristic of the Boys JV Basketball Team. Coach Martin watched the young men become seasoned hoopsters. They vied for the district title but fell to Lancaster, making them second in the Northern Neck.

Throughout the season, the boys displayed an excellent man to man defense. Although a few players will move to varsity next year, the JV Eagles should still be a strong contender in the district.

Will the boys move up the "court" to first place?

UP THE HILL &

As the ball left the pitcher's hand, a hush fell over the crowd. Then with a CRACK of the bat, Bill Carlson drilled a line drive to left field for a single. Unfortunately, that was the only hit of the game during the season opener of junior varsity baseball.

Although the season started with a loss, Coach Harman and Coach Martin worked with this young team to develop the confidence, the skills, and the stamina that are characteristic of seasoned veterans. "As long as the guys can maintain their confidence, there is nothing they cannot accomplish," expressed Coach Harman.

The boys gained a sense of camaraderie as the season progressed. Dennis Bartlett stated, "This season has helped me better my game and team skills. I can't wait until next year!"

Will Coach Harman continue to push the team up "The Hill" of success?

OUT OF THE PARK

During spring training, many young hopefuls tried out for the Varsity Baseball Team. Coach Jones had the formidable task of choosing the best eighteen. After the cuts were made, only six veterans remained. The team practiced many long hours, each player hoping to gain first-string status.

At the beginning of the season, it seemed as though the team would never get out on the field. Several games had to be postponed due to March and April showers that made area diamonds virtually impossible to use. Fortunately, these delays gave the players an opportunity to perfect their strategies.

Since this year's team consisted mostly of newcomers, everyone has high hopes for next year's catchers, sluggers, and pitchers.

Can these "boys of spring" live up to our great expectations?

The 1990 Lady Eagles Softball Team, coached by Sheila Hines, was a strong one. The Eagles had eleven players returning from last year's team. In their first game of the season, the Lady Eagles were defeated by King William 12-6. Due to inclement weather, there was little time to practice at the beginning of the season. As a result, the Eagles lost a close one in their first district game against Essex. In this game the Eagles, down 5-0, made a strong comeback but still lost 5-7.

A WINNING

What high school sport combines strength, swiftness, endurance, and team effort to create a winning combination? Track and Field, of course. Each player must be conditioned for his individual event, but his success is only a small portion of the team's success. It also takes teamwork.

The 1989-90 coaches perfected the art of teamwork by honing the skills of each member. Coach Williams, Coach Johnson, and Coach Lewis insured that every athlete was well trained and ready to throw, run, or jump.

Can next year's team maintain this winning combination?

TICK

Under the able leadership of Coach Shalenko, the varsity cheerleaders showed that they have what it takes to keep Eagle spirit high both inside and outside the halls of W&L. August to February made for a long season, but the varsity cheerleaders' hard work, dedication, and spirit of unity paid off in the end.

Every afternoon the cafeteria echoed with the spirited shouts of cheerleaders hard at work creating new cheers and practicing old ones. Each pyramid and formation required hours of practice to perfect.

One could almost always be sure to find energetic cheerleaders at every sporting event. This dedication helped each team through their victories and defeats. No matter where the Eagles were represented, the varsity cheerleaders traveled to support team spirit.

What makes W&L's cheerleaders unique is their spirit of unity. Practicing, traveling, and performing take their toll, but the cooperation and friendship that were characteristic of the squad pulled the girls through even the most difficult times.

W&L proudly gives three cheers to the Varsity Cheerleading Squad in return for their support.

Will next year's squad continue to generate Eagle spirit?

DYNAMITE!

The Junior Varsity Cheerleading Squad's season got off to a late start this year. The vivacious cheerleaders spent anxious moments awaiting the school board's approval of their coach, Mrs. Joy DeNoon. However, the squad finally got on its feet, and despite its small size, we heard them loud and clear.

Their energy was clearly seen in every game in which they participated. The J.V. squad "scored" highly by cheering the Eagles to each victory as well as by giving them support after each of their few, but disappointing, defeats.

These young cheerleaders worked hard to make the 1989-1990 school year one of the best for the Junior Varsity Eagles. Though sickness accounted for absences among the members, you could always see one of their faces, or hear one of their voices at a game.

Will they perform as well when they move up the status scale to Varsity?

MARCHING INTO HISTORY

The Eagle Band etched its place in W&L history when it was invited to march in the inaugural parade of Governor Douglas Wilder on January 13, 1990. Even though the weather was brisk that day, the band paraded proudly for the new official.

As usual, the musicians performed in the Montross Fall Festival Parade as well as in several other area festivals. They dazzled the judges in both the King George and the White Stone Parades and came home with two first place trophies.

Although the annual Christmas Con- cert was cancelled because of snow, the concert band gave an outstanding performance during the Spring Concert in May. Also in May, the students received individual honors at the Second Annual Band Awards Banquet.

Every spring the band takes an exciting trip. In the past it has traveled to places like Niagara Falls, Myrtle Beach, and New York. This year, under the guidance of the new director, Mr. Byars, the group planned a visit to Walt Disney World.

SINGING IN A NEW DECADE

The Washington and Lee Choir's eventful year culminated in a spring trip to New York where they participated in a choir festival. This event was made possible through hours of preparation, performances, and fund-raising activities.

Unending practice by the choir paid off at the Regional Chorus. One choir member, Quinita Fisher, overwhelmed her competition as she performed a solo at this event. The choir also had the opportunity to participate in the Regional tryouts in King William County.

The choir officers collaborated to bring about changes in choir activities. For the first time, the choir participated in the Fall Festival with a float entry. Other activities included a bakesale, a raffle, a dance, and a jacket sale. All of these events helped generate money that was used to attend.

Has the W&L Choir started a new tradition for the nineties?

HEADS OF THE CLASS

It didn't take the brains of a National Honor Society member to figure out that the society was on the move this year. Membership doubled from last year, but this year there was still an abundance of work to do. Mrs. Woodhouse, a first time NHS sponsor, oversaw the activities.

Early in the year, NHS sold corn-dogs, french fries, and Cokes to hungry spectators at the Fall Festival Parade. Several members visited the Sunset Lodge Nursing Home in October to enliven its residents' Halloween.

W&L students who were having problems with their studies could call upon NHS members to give a helping hand as part of a free tutoring service. The club also aided the newly formed Westmoreland Housing Coalition.

As usual, the Academic Banquet was sponsored by NHS. During the ceremony many new NHS members were sworn in.

Will membership double once again next year?

MEMBERSHIP

The theme for the SCA this year was "SCA: Spreading Our Wings". The Student Council Association, under the guidance of its sponsor, Ms. Wise, certainly lived up to its motto.

Throughout the year, club members sought to acquire and improve leadership skills. In September, the officers attended the FBLA officer training workshops. In November, several officers and representatives picked up ideas at the regional meeting of the Virginia Student Council Association.

As usual, the SCA organized several assemblies. Among them were the opening day program, the Thanksgiving Assembly, and the "Champions of Christmas Spirit II" program.

The group spread its wings in the community as well. It collected donations at the Thanksgiving Program and gave the proceeds to the Red Cross for hurricane and earthquake victims. In December, the canned goods that each class collected for the Christmas program were given to needy families.

Membership had its privileges. Students with membership cards were treated to reduced prices on tickets for several basketball and football games.

At the end of the year, new officers were elected and installed at the SCA Awards Program. During the ceremony, the theme for 1990-91 was revealed.

Will the SCA live up to its new motto?

Upward Bound is a program that was created by the government to aid high school students who wish to attend college. It encourages students throughout the country to strive for the best education they can possibly attain.

In the summer the students attend Mary Washington College to take college preparatory courses. They are housed in dormitories on campus for six weeks. Through this experience they gain an impression of college life and, if they are seniors, receive college credit. The courses from the previous summer are supplemented during the school year by Saturday morning classes at RCC. Upward Bound participants obviously know in which direction they are headed.

AN EDUCATION ON EDUCATION

This year Students in Action for Education had a new sponsor for its club, Mr. Pekarek.

The year was marked by numerous activities. SAE sponsored a Halloween party in October for the handicapped children at Montross Elementary. Throughout the year, the club observed teachers in their work place. They saw just how difficult it is to teach twenty-five active bodies. The members even had the opportunity to practice teaching in the spring.

Some other events included working a concession stand at a volleyball game and sending Christmas cards to retired teachers. Numerous guests came to speak on education as a career.

Many members of SAE hope to be teachers when they graduate from college.

Is SAE a step into the future?

The Science Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Carey, showed that it is a leader in environmental and community awareness. Through the club's activities, the participants demonstrated that they were good citizens of Westmoreland County.

In December, the organization worked for the benefit of the elderly citizens of the county by wrapping gift boxes for the Bob Fox Christmas Fund. Members, armed with plastic garbage bags, worked to keep the area clean during Trash Pick-up Day in March.

The community eagerly anticipated the annual county Science Fair hosted by W&L's Science Club. The fair, held in March, was an enjoyable event for everyone.

Will community service continue to be an annual contribution of the Science Club?

FRANKLY SPEAKING

Washington and Lee's forensics team had an excellent season once again. The team captured first place in the district with six first place winners, two second place winners, and two third place winners:

John Hinson — 1st, Boys Original Oratory

Jennifer Tate — 1st, Girls Original Oratory

Joey Thompson — 1st, Boys Extemporaneous Speaking

Jean Greeley — 1st, Girls Extemporaneous Speaking

Jacob Plummer — 1st, Boys Poetry

Eleanor Chandler — 2nd, Girls Poetry

Lori Laws — Serious Dramatic

Interpretation

Claudia Fauntleroy — 2nd, Humorous Dramatic Interpretation

Jennifer Mothershead — 3rd, Girls Prose

Kyle Gallagher — 1st, Spelling

Second place Essex was beaten by over twenty points as W&L stacked up fifty-nine points.

Under Mrs. Ingram's watchful eye, the speakers practiced until each was ready for the stiff regional competition at RCC at the Glenns Campus.

The highlight of the season came when Joey Thompson won first place at the state level.

Has the Forensics Team started a winning tradition that will be carried on in the future years?

This year the Art Club hosted many events in which they explored artistic avenues.

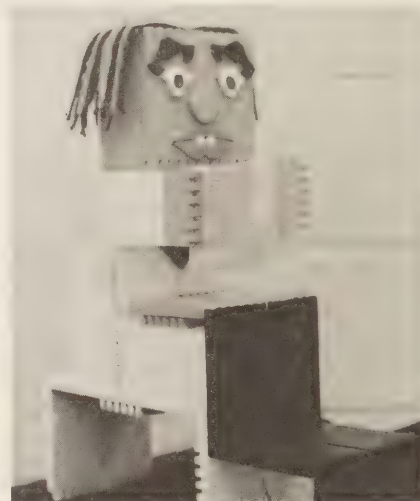

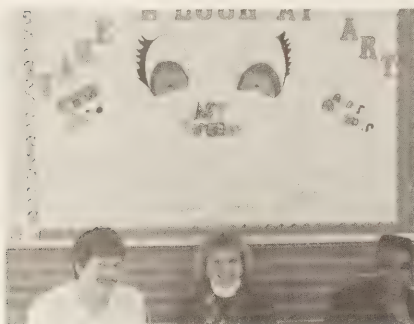

An art mobile and glassworking workshop were sponsored by the Art Club. The workshop, co-sponsored by the Virginia Museum, proved to be a very worthwhile experience. Participants were able to design colorful glass jewelry pieces.

During the spring, the club's activities included an outing to the Virginia Museum. W&L's students also had the chance to view their peers' art when the Art Club held the annual Spring Art Show.

The members raised money by selling refreshments at all of the girls home basketball games. Monies raised during the year were used to fund the club's events. Part of the money was used to form a scholarship fund. The recipient, club president Logan Franklin, prepared to pursue an art career at V.C.U.

Who will be the next Andy Warhol of W&L?

The Future Homemakers of America had a very eventful school year. From fall to spring, the agenda was filled with opportunities for involvement.

In September, members enjoyed a trip to the State Fair. The FHA also designed a float which received first place in the Fall Festival Parade's School Division. A sundae party and a pizza party were fun social events that gave members the chance to relax and interact with each other. The members also sponsored a Halloween Party for the resource students. Everyone came in costume, played many games, and enjoyed the tasty refreshments.

In December, the Future Homemakers held a mock wedding. Kristen Hundley and Christopher Trader were joined in "holy matrimony". Many students participated in the wedding party and helped with the reception. Invitations were distributed to all FHA members and faculty. By participating in this event the students learned how to plan a wedding and reception.

FHA also commemorated Vocational Education Week. Members put spots on the local radio stations, and announcements about vocational careers were made over the public address system. Officers had the chance to attend the FHA Conference in April. While there, they learned methods to improve their leadership qualities.

What's on the back burner for next year?

Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) is a co-curricular organization which gives students the opportunity to explore the business world.

Throughout the year FBLA sponsored many enjoyable activities for its members. For each activity, a committee was set up so that the members and officers could plan and organize the event. This year, several new projects were created by the officers.

One new project was Penny Wrapper Week during which the students brought pennies for the teacher(s) of their choice. That teacher could not begin class until all the pennies had been wrapped. This project was very successful, raising over $600.00 for Project Ask (Association for the Study of Childhood Cancer). Another new idea was the video party that featured the movie Who Framed Roger Rabbit.

Once a month FBLA held its meetings in the cafeteria. During these assemblies guest lecturers were invited to speak to the members. The gatherings were very formal, following parliamentary procedure to the letter.

FBLA is based on motivation and determination. Add to this a lot of hard work and Mrs. Hall's expertise, and it is easy to see how FBLA is able to be such a success.

WORKING CLASS

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Randy Long, W&L's DECA kept up a busy pace this year. DECA's long list of activities was full of projects in which every member could be involved.

The year began with a fun-filled trip to the State Fair, a joint effort with FBLA and FHA. DECA officers also trained at the beginning of the year to prepare for their offices.

Other activities included a float in the Fall Festival Parade, a fall rally at Kings Dominion, a Thanksgiving food basket, a trip to Potomac Mills Mall, and an employee/employer banquet. National DECA Day, February 15, was observed by the club.

Throughout the year, the club was busy raising money. DECA sold candy bars at school, and they made quite a profit from selling goodies to all W&L "chocaholics".

At the end of the year, DECA members participated in district competitions. Those who won went on to the state competitions. This, as always, was a fitting end to an eventful year.

Vocational Education is designed for those students who plan to go straight into the work force after their high school graduation. The Vocational Center in Warsaw offers practical career training in many fields. Cosmetology, Masonry, Electrical Maintenance, Carpentry, Auto Repair, Data Processing, and Food Management are offered to W&L students.

Two trips are made to the Vocational Center each day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

W&L students receive two high school credits for each course completed at the Center.

Will these students one day be building our houses, styling our hair, or preparing our dinner at a restaurant?

SADD+ (Students Against Drunk Driving) is the largest organization at Washington and Lee. Crystal Newman, president, worked hard to promote the message "Arrive Alive Don't Drink and Drive."

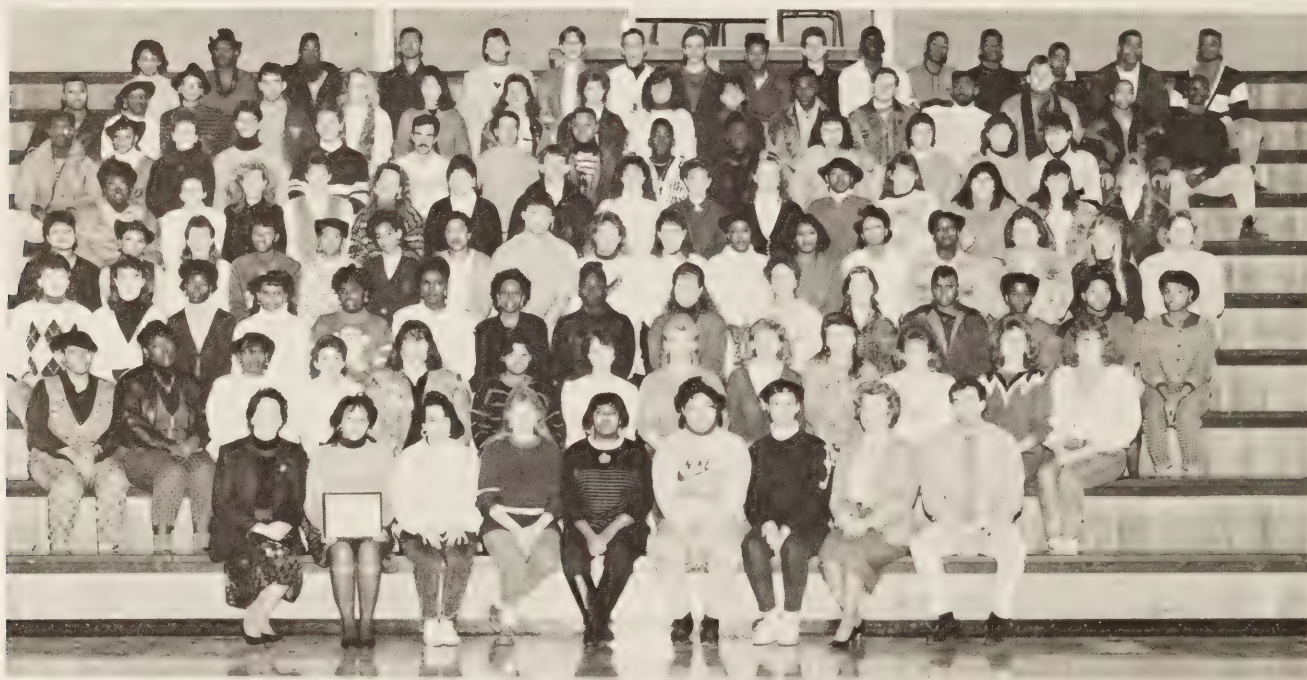

Red ribbons were passed out to all SADD+ members to symbolize their promise not to drink and drive during the holidays. A special visitor, Freddie Pierce, came to W&L with an energetic program entitled "Chemical Warfare". In his presentation, Freddie showed how one can reach a natural high without using drugs or alcohol.

A Contract for Life was drawn up for those attending the prom. In this contract the students agreed to call their parents for a ride if they had been drinking. The parents agreed to give their children a safe ride home.

Since SADD+ was organized by Bob Arnastas in 1981, death-tolls from drinking and driving have declined and teenage drinking has slowly decreased. More people are aware of the dangers and now seek safe transportation home. As the slogan says, "Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk".

What impact will this club have on W&L students?

LATE NIGHTS WITH LETTERMEN

The Varsity Club increased in size this year with the addition of many new enthusiastic members. They participated in several exciting and worthwhile activities including monthly meetings, the spring and fall Athletic Banquets, and a Powder Puff Football Game.

Each year the organization, in cooperation with the American Heart Association, encourages students to pledge to stop smoking on Save-a-Sweetheart Day. On Maid and Butler Day, members of the club were auctioned off to the highest bidder. They had to serve their masters obediently.

The club also took several trips to different sporting events. It seemed like the "lettermen" got home late after each outing. The first trip was to a football game where the students watched the University of Virginia Cavaliers trample the University of Maryland Terapins to win a bid to the Citrus Bowl. In February the group traveled to see the University of Maryland host Duke. The year ended with a field trip to watch the Washington Capitals compete against the Quebec Nordiques in ice hockey.

The Varsity Club's fun-filled year could not have been possible without its sponsors, Mrs. Markwith and Mrs. Harman. Many thanks to these ladies for all of their work.

Will the lettermen ever get home early?

Top Ten Things Varsity Club Members Like:

10. Persuading students to stop smoking
9. Playing sports
8. Selling themselves — Maid and Butler Day?!!
7. Books with lots of pictures
6. Going on field trips
5. Wearing letter jackets
4. Playing during meetings
3. Drinking . . . Coca-Cola
2. Getting out of class to decorate for banquets
1. Passing five classes

"Danny, have you done the layout for the SCA page yet?"

"Joey, where is the copy for the NHS page?"

"Ms. Cupani, do we have enough pages done to meet this deadline?"

All of these, along with a few other four-letter unmentionables, were familiar phrases in the yearbook room this year. With only two veteran staffers, the group lacked experience; however, those who chose to take on this challenge and work hard made up for their lack of experience by showing so much dedication. The two new sponsors Ms. Cupani and Mrs. Sizemore also showed great courage by taking on something foreign to them and by trusting total strangers.

At the beginning of the school year the staff members and sponsors were quite unfamiliar with each other, but as the year progressed and the final deadline drew near one student could complete another's sentence before the other finished saying it.

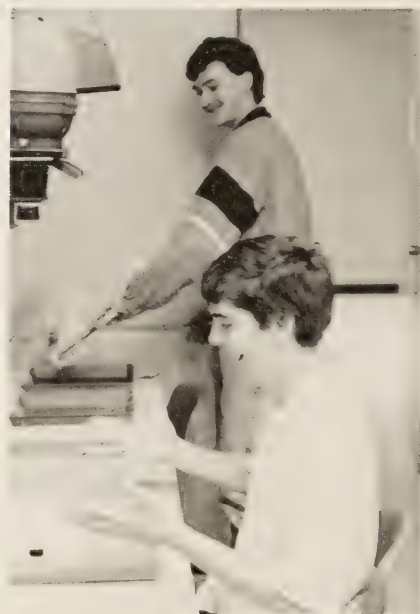

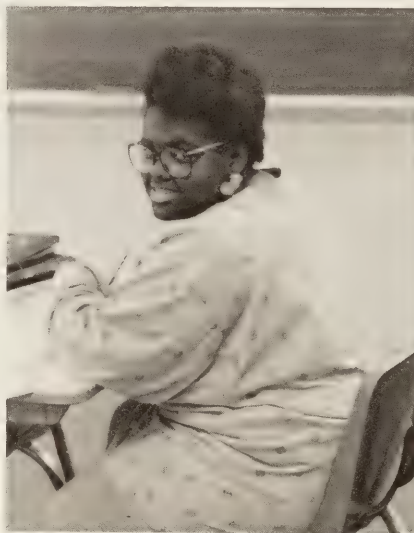

No matter what time of day or night, on weekends, holidays, or any other time that school was not in session, one could find the very small but dedicated staff at work in their room. Many people do not realize and cannot appreciate the hard work and long hours that go into publishing a yearbook. The staff of the 1990 Generals can — and they know how to have fun at the same time!

The million dollar question is: Who will be the editor-in-chief next year?

One hundred and thirty-two pages and four deadlines ago I wondered what was going to become of this book and if it would ever be totally finished. We began with thirty-six staff members and finished with approximately ten (if that many). To those of you whose dedication never diminished these few words are not enough to express my thanks. To those of you who never showed any dedication, you will never know what you missed, nor should you enjoy any real satisfaction now.

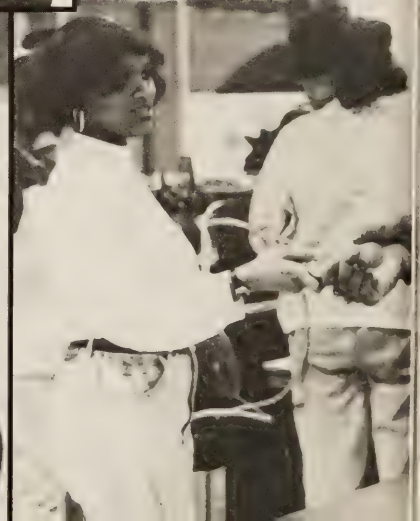

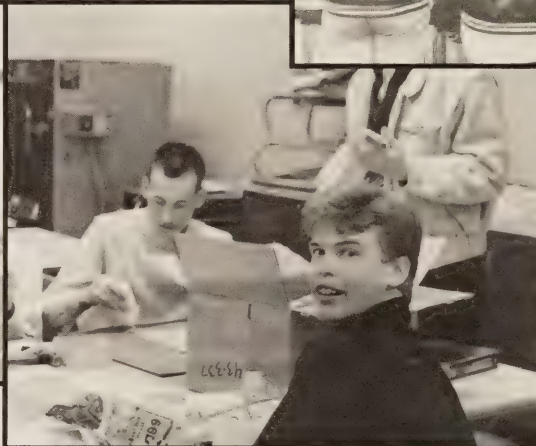

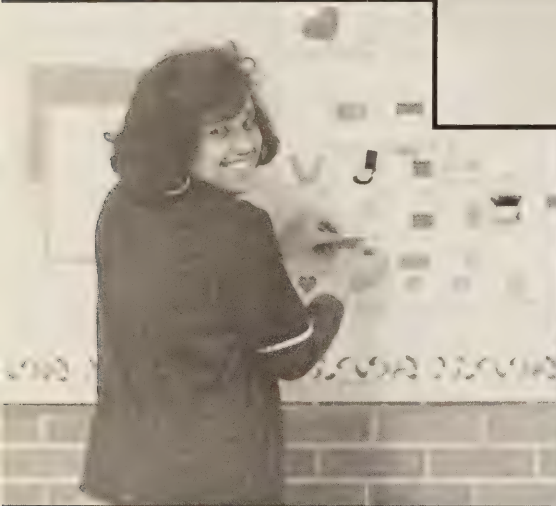

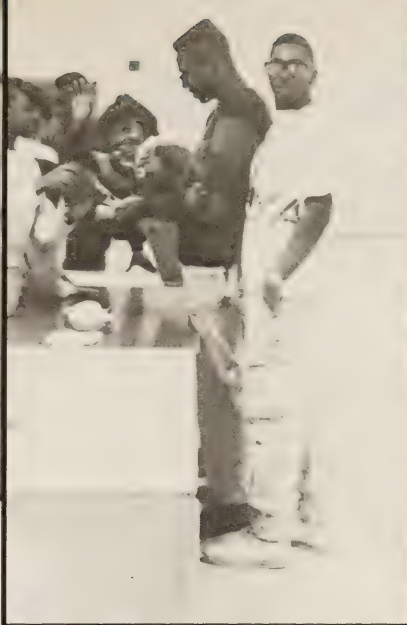

First, I would like to show my appreciation and admiration to my editors. Thanks go to Joey for always being there to do his share of the work along with someone else's; to Danny, for sacrificing weekends and spending long hours making sure that pictures were cropped correctly to fit the layout; to Crystal, for saving us by taking emergency pictures as we neared a deadline; to Jim, for getting us our much-needed scores for the sports pages; and to Brad and Sean, for developing pictures in the darkroom.

Believe it or not, I will miss my home at A-7. Many memories were created in that room which only the yearbook staff can share. Since we decided to end each piece of copy with a question, I have been wondering: How did those beer cartons get in the room anyway?

MAIN EVENTS

Homecoming night was one night that W&L students will never forget. The Eagles crushed the Northumberland Indians (46-6). This victory was the perfect prelude to the Homecoming dance in the cafeteria.

It is traditional at W&L for Homecoming to begin with Spirit Week. The days were designated as follows: Monday — Inside-Out Day, Tuesday — Backwards Day, Wednesday — Punk Day, Thursday — Fifty's Day and Miss Irresistible Day, Friday — Blue & Gold Day and Mr. Irresistible Day.

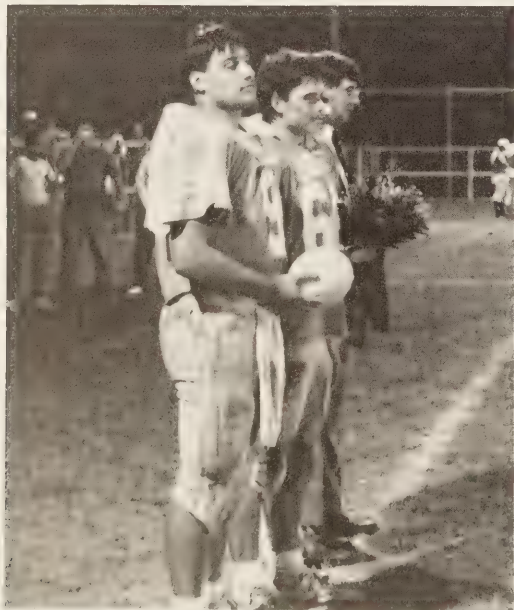

The pep rally on Friday afternoon held a special triumph for each class. The senior class won the Spirit Stick. The juniors had their moment in the spotlight as Jacob Plummer was named 1989's Mr. Irresistible. In the annual relay races the sophomore class was victorious.

The homecoming court stole the halftime scene as the princesses were led on to the field by their escorts. Queen candidates, Dorethia Ball, Janis Bryant, Sharon Williams, and Melissa Yeatman, were filled with anxiety as Mr. Long prepared to announce who would become queen. Finally, the moment arrived. Melissa Yeatman cried with excitement as she was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1989.

The Eagles had been having a fairly rough year up to Homecoming Night, but the determination of the team brought a glorious win. Can the Eagle Spirit win us a victorious Homecoming in 1990?

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

Many students and teachers put a lot of effort into preparing for this year's Fall Festival. Their hard work paid off.

National Honor Society members, who had a concessions stand, managed to raise some funds for their organization.

There were numerous floats entered in the parade. The clubs put a lot of planning into decorating their floats. While shouting at the top of their spirited lungs, the enthusiastic cheerleaders dazzled the judges. Vocational's float showed common occupations of the Northern Neck.

Always a special favorite in the parade is the Eagle Band. Their musical display overwhelmed and captivated each spectator. Although the band was not allowed to compete, in many people's opinions, it received first place.

SADD + passed out pamphlets urging students not to drink and drive, while the homecoming queens and princesses were all dolled up and ready to turn heads.

We mustn't forget Calvin Balderson and his mud covered truck. He definitely had a hard time getting his truck sparkling clean once more.

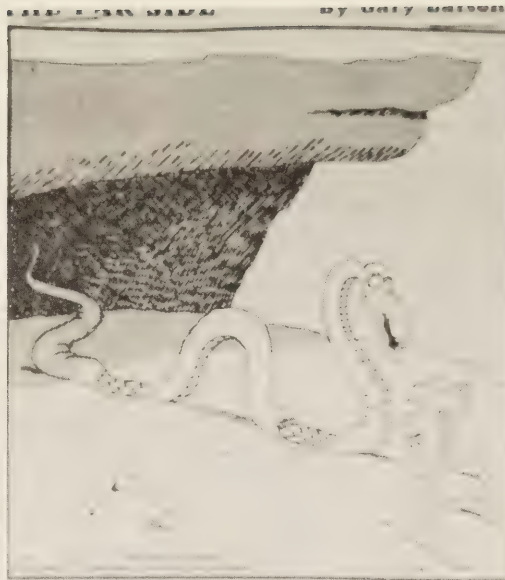

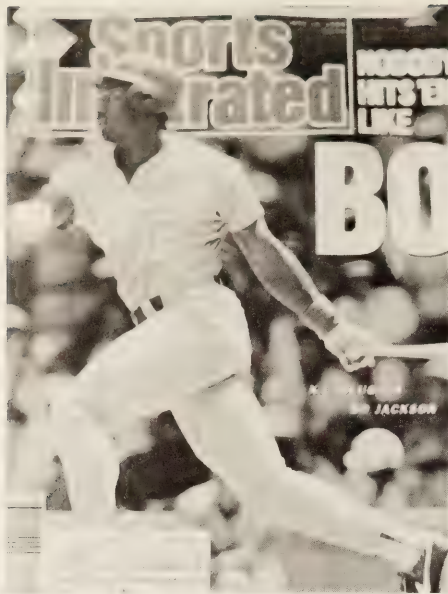

The parade went well and was longer this year than usual. Will the parade continue to grow and become as big as Macy's Parade?

The faculty of W&L*

Now, the halls are hallowed. The lockers stand empty. In the distance the faint notes of Pomp and Circumstance can be heard. A line of nervous seniors, soon to be alumni, begin their ceremonial march onto the stage where Mr. Hutnyan will hand each his key to the future — a diploma.

Commencement marks both an end and a beginning. Twelve years ago the seniors began their long march up the aisle. As each senior receives his diploma, his mind is filled with the memories that are shared by all high school graduates. There are memories of successes and memories of failures. But the W&L graduate is different in a significant way. Mixed in with the individual successes is the realization that W&L is the school it is today because of the contributions each student has made. They are contributions marked by reaching for one's personal best.

As the senior receives his diploma he steps away from the podium and onto the threshold of a new way of life — a future whose destination is unknown.
